(a) the historical and ongoing discriminatory systemic factors that have resulted in Aboriginal people being over-represented in the criminal justice system, including in the remand population;

(b) the risk of harm and trauma that being in custody poses to Aboriginal people;

(c) the importance of maintaining and supporting the development of the person's connection to culture, kinship, family, Elders, country and community;

Note

If the Aboriginal person is also a child, the bail decision maker must also take into account the issues set out in section 3B(1).

(2) The bail decision maker is to take account of an issue set out in subsection (1) by reference to the evidence and information that is reasonably available to the bail decision maker at the time, including information provided by—

(a) the Aboriginal person's family and community; and

(b) providers of Aboriginal bail support services.

(3) Despite subsection (2), the bail decision maker is to take account of the issues set out in subsection (1)(a) to (c) whether or not any evidence or information is before the bail decision maker in respect of those issues.

(4) The requirement to take an issue set out in subsection (1) into account applies regardless of—

~~(1) In making a determination under this Act in relation to a child, a bail decision maker must take into account (in addition to any other requirements of this Act)—~~

~~(a) the need to consider all other options before remanding the child in custody; and~~

- ~~(b) the need to strengthen and preserve the relationship between the child and the child's family, guardians or carers; and~~
- ~~(c) the desirability of allowing the living arrangements of the child to continue without interruption or disturbance; and~~

- ~~(f) the likely sentence should the child be found guilty of the offence charged; and~~
- ~~(g) the need to ensure that the conditions of bail are no more onerous than are necessary and do not constitute unfair management of the child.~~

(1) In making a determination under this Act in relation to a child, a bail decision maker must take into account (in addition to any other requirements of this Act) the following issues—

- (a) the child's age, maturity and stage of development at the time of the alleged offence;
- (b) the need to impose on the child the minimum intervention required in the circumstances, with the remand of the child being a last resort;
- (c) the presumption at common law that a child who is 10 years of age or over but under 14 years of age cannot commit an offence;
- (d) the need to preserve and strengthen the child's relationships with—including the following cohorts, experience discrimination resulting in that cohort's overrepresentation in the criminal justice system—

 - (i) Aboriginal children;

(ii) children involved in the child protection system;

(iii) children from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds;

(k) whether, if the child were found guilty of the offence charged, it is likely—

(i) that the child would be sentenced to a term of imprisonment; and

(ii) if so, that the time the child would spend remanded in custody if bail is refused would exceed that term of imprisonment;

(l) any of the following issues that arise—

(i) any ill health the child experiences, including mental illness;

(ii) any disability the child has, including physical disability, intellectual disability, cognitive impairment and developmental delay;

(iii) the impact on the child, and on the child's behaviour, of any experience of abuse, trauma, neglect, loss, family violence or child protection involvement, including removal from family or placement in out of home care;

(m) any other relevant factor or characteristic.

Note

If the child is also an Aboriginal person, the bail decision maker must also take into account the issues set out in section 3A(1).

(1A) The bail decision maker is to take account of an issue set out in subsection (1) by reference to the evidence and information that is reasonably available to the bail decision maker at the time.

Part 2—Granting of bail and admission to bail

4 Entitlement to bail

A person accused of an offence, and being held in custody in relation to that offence, is entitled to be granted bail unless the bail decision maker is required to refuse bail by this Act.

4AAA Offences in respect of which bail must not be refused

(1) Despite anything to the contrary in any other provision of this Act, a bail decision maker who is deciding whether to grant bail to a person accused of an offence must not refuse bail if—

(a) the person is accused only of offences against the Summary Offences Act 1966 that are not referred to in Schedule 3; and

(b) the person does not have a terrorism record; and

(c) if the bail decision maker is a court, no exception under subsection (2) applies.

(2) An exception applies for the purposes of subsection (1)(c) if—

(a) the court has determined under section 8AA that there is a risk that the person will commit a terrorism or foreign incursion offence; or

(b) the person was previously granted bail in respect of any of the offences of which the person is accused and that bail was subsequently revoked.

(3) A reference in this Act to a bail decision maker considering, deciding or determining whether to grant bail (however described) includes a reference to a bail decision maker who is prohibited from refusing bail by subsection (1).

Example

Section 5AAAA(1) requires a bail decision maker considering the release on bail of an accused to make inquiries of the prosecutor as to whether certain instruments are in force against the accused. Under subsection (3), the bail decision maker must make these inquiries even if subsection (1) prohibits the bail decision maker from refusing bail.

- (4) Nothing in this section limits the power of a court to revoke bail.

 - (4) The step 1—show compelling reason test also applies to a decision of whether to grant bail to a person accused of an offence that is neither a Schedule 1 offence nor a Schedule 2 offence if—

- (a) the person has a terrorism record; or
- (b) the court considering whether to grant bail determines under section 8AA that there is a risk that the person will commit a terrorism or foreign incursion offence.

(5) For the purposes of subsection (2)(c)(iiib) and (v)—

(i) is not at large awaiting sentence for that offence; and

(ii) is not serving a sentence for that offence.

INTERPRETATION OF LEGISLATION ACT 1984 (ILA)

Style changes

Section 54A of the ILA authorises the making of the style changes set out in Schedule 1 to that Act.

References to ILA s. 39B

Sidenotes which cite ILA s. 39B refer to section 39B of the ILA which provides that where an undivided section or clause of a Schedule is amended by the insertion of one or more subsections or subclauses, the original section or clause becomes subsection or subclause (1) and is amended by the insertion of the expression "(1)" at the beginning of the original section or clause.

Interpretation

As from 1 January 2001, amendments to section 36 of the ILA have the following effects:

- Headings

All headings included in an Act which is passed on or after 1 January 2001 form part of that Act. Any heading inserted in an Act which was passed before 1 January 2001, by an Act passed on or after 1 January 2001, forms part of that Act. This includes headings to Parts, Divisions or Subdivisions in a Schedule; sections; clauses; items; tables; columns; examples; diagrams; notes or forms. See section 36(1A)(2A).

- Examples, diagrams or notes

All examples, diagrams or notes included in an Act which is passed on or after 1 January 2001 form part of that Act. Any examples, diagrams or notes inserted in an Act which was passed before 1 January 2001, by an Act passed on or after 1 January 2001, form part of that Act. See section 36(3A).

- Punctuation

All punctuation included in an Act which is passed on or after 1 January 2001 forms part of that Act. Any punctuation inserted in an Act which was passed before 1 January 2001, by an Act passed on or after 1 January 2001, forms part of that Act. See section 36(3B).

- Provision numbers

All provision numbers included in an Act form part of that Act, whether inserted in the Act before, on or after 1 January 2001. Provision numbers include section numbers, subsection numbers, paragraphs and subparagraphs. See section 36(3C).

- Location of "legislative items"

A "legislative item" is a penalty, an example or a note. As from 13 October 2004, a legislative item relating to a provision of an Act is taken to be at the foot of that provision even if it is preceded or followed by another legislative item that relates to that provision. For example, if a penalty at the foot of a provision is followed by a note, both of these legislative items will be regarded as being at the foot of that provision. See section 36B.

- Other material

Any explanatory memorandum, table of provisions, endnotes, index and other material printed after the Endnotes does not form part of an Act. See section 36(3)(3D)(3E).
